Training program on Prehospital Care (FIRST AID)

Safety of victims following a disaster at work place

Introduction:

Natural & manmade disasters becoming very common all over the world & every day there are significant number of people victimized & needs emergency care & safe transport system to save their lives. It is a well-known fact that following a disaster / accident the lives of the affected victims mainly depend on the way they were handled & transported to the hospital. We have trained various type of people on this subject for more than 115 years and we have a well-organized training session for the Sri Lankan community.

St John Ambulance ,is an organization which is providing first aid training & services for more than 115 years in Sri Lanka & it is accepted in more than 40 countries in the world.

Aim of the program :

Our main aim is to give basic knowledge & necessary skills that will be needed in an emergency to handle single or multiple casualties with available facilities to save life & to prevent further damage. Training of employees in an institution is aiming to function as first responders in first aid at work place.

Benefits of training

After the training program they will have confidence on how to act in an emergency & they will be able to provide necessary & standard accepted emergency care for the affected victims. By providing suitable first aid they will be able to save lives & minimize further damages.

By providing first aid they will be able to minimize the permanent disabilities (following spinal injuries) & minimize the need for the blood transfusion by controlling bleeding on the site & they can increase the chances of survival by providing Basic life support for the victims those who have no breathing or circulation after an injury / accident.

This training program consists of lecture discussions & practical sessions utilizing training modules for CPR & other training materials.

Authority of Training : National Training unit, St John Ambulance Brigade.

Training Officers : All TOs are certified by St John Ambulance Sri Lanka.
